THE ARMED FORCES COVENANT ANNUAL REPORT 2018

---

Summary

A MESSAGE FROM THE DEFENCE SECRETARY

The Armed Forces Covenant is a formal promise from the nation that Service Personnel, their families and Veterans are recognised for the sacrifices they make to keep us safe and should not be disadvantaged when accessing public and commercial services.

I am proud to present this report, which follows the launch of the Veterans Strategy on 14 November, and will focus on serving personnel and families. This is seventh report since the Armed Forces Act 2011 which established the Armed Forces Covenant. The theme of this year's report is Delivering Effective Support; through improved measurement of the Covenant we have been able to examine delivery and progress against commitments over the past year. While recognising the differences we have made to the Armed Forces community, we know there is much more still to be achieved.

The report covers progress on healthcare, education, accommodation, inquests, family life, through-life support, and business and community. Key highlights of the report include:

- The launch of a new Tri-Service Defence Holistic Transition Policy, supporting both the Service person and the Service Family, by the end of 2018.
- £5 million to extend the Educational Support Fund until 2020 to assist educational authorities across the UK during the ongoing draw-down from Germany.
- From September 2018, the expansion of the Department for Education's Common Transfer File to improve the information available on Service Children when they move between schools.
- A new scheme to support Spousal Employment, announced in September 2018, will facilitate access to vocational training and development opportunities.
- The launch of the Combat Stress 24-hour Mental Health Helpline (0800 323 4444) for serving personnel and their families.
- The 3,000th signatory of the Covenant.
- The relocation of the Defence Medical Rehabilitation Centre to a new purpose-built facility at Stanford Hall, Nottinghamshire.

HEALTHCARE

What have we done?

- The Combat Stress 24-Hour Mental Health Helpline (0800 323 4444) for serving personnel and their families was launched on 25 February 2018. The helpline received nearly 1,000 calls during the first six months of operation, an average of 36 calls per week, or five calls per day.
- The MOD and UK Departments of Health Partnership Board is working closely to improve the healthcare of the entire Service Community and mitigate regional variation in provision.
- The NHS Veterans' Mental Health Complex Treatment Service, launched in April 2018, provides an enhanced community-based service for Veterans who have military-attributable complex mental health problems that have not been resolved earlier in the care or support pathway.

- The Veterans Trauma Network continues to be a vital service for Veterans requiring on going NHS care due to medical problems arising from their time in uniform. As at August 2018, 83 Veterans have been referred to the service.
- The Welsh Government provide nearly £700K per annum to Veterans NHS Wales towards the treatment of Veterans with mental health issues. Veterans NHS Wales is leading the way in providing research to remedy health problems including PTSD and personal trauma caused by their Service experience.
- The Scottish Veterans Commissioner's report: Veterans' health and wellbeing: a distinctive Scottish approach was published on 24 April 2018. The Scottish Government has now published its response to the report which sets out how the recommendations will be implemented.

FOR FAMILIES

What have we done?

- A new scheme to support Spousal Employment, announced in September 2018, will facilitate access to vocational training and development opportunities, helping Service spouses and civil partners to enter new sectors or self-employment.

- Working with Defence Relationship Management, the MOD's Partner Employment

Steering Group will continue to explore what more employers can do to support Service spouses and partners to attain and retain rewarding employment.

- The Chronic conditions and Disability in Defence (CanDiD) Network was established to connect and support Service Personnel, their dependants and Veterans diagnosed with, or caring for persons diagnosed with a life-changing or life-limiting condition, impairment or disability.
- The first Defence domestic abuse strategy 'No Defence For Abuse' was launched in July 2018. Building on existing support and initiatives, the Strategy aims to reduce the prevalence and impact of domestic abuse and increase the safety and wellbeing of all those affected.

EDUCATION

What have we done?

- In July 2018, the Secretary of State for Defence announced a £5 million extension of the Educational Support Fund, until 2020, to assist educational authorities across the UK during the ongoing draw-down from Germany. The Fund is available to those publicly-funded schools, Academies and Free Schools attended by Service children whose parents are subject to exceptional mobility or deployments.

- The Department for Education implemented changes to the Common Transfer File from September 2018; the means by which state schools in England and local authorities transfer pupil data when a child moves from one school to another. The expansion of the information available will ensure a greater continuity of education and pastoral support for Service children.

- The Office for Students, the independent regulator of higher education in England, published new guidance making clear the sector's duty to support Service children's progression into and through higher education.
- The Welsh Government introduced its 2018/19 Supporting Service Children in Wales Fund. 27 schools successfully secured full or partial funding totalling £250,000.
